

FAITH * FAMILY * EXCELLENCE. These are Lumen Christi's Core Values. In this issue of the Lumen Messenger, we dedicate one page to each Core Value, with photos and text to share how Lumen Christi students are living out that particular Core Value in their lives at school. Thank you for your past and future support of Lumen Christi Catholic High School.

FAITH

This issue of the Lumen Messenger will feature prominently our younger Archangels. While our high school students took their PSAT's in October, our junior high students went into the community and served. They began the day with Mass at the Monastery of the Blessed Sacrament that also included 15 minutes of Adoration. The Sisters invited our students upstairs for a little history on the Monastery and handed out candy and a Biblical bookmark. After the service the kids split into various group and they went to the Archdiocese, Prestige Care Center, Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton School and Saint Patrick Parish. The Archdiocese group helped clean out the downstairs archives and some also helped Mrs. Kim Bakic, Executive Assistant to the Archbishop, with various tasks that made her work a little easier. As per tradition, our kids decorated the Prestige Care Center's dining room and hallway with Halloween decorations. At Saint Patrick's the group decorated the garden with lights for winter. Finally, the group at Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton School assisted in the classrooms. Our service was much appreciated by all and our students were happy to help out. Good job, Archangels!

Our younger Archangels lead the way in putting service to others before self!

A

Mrs. Loeffler's 7th graders completed a Halloween History Project. Students were assigned a research paper on the origins and progression of Halloween and had to choose a project based on this holiday. Many wrote stories and others brought in some sweet treats!

M

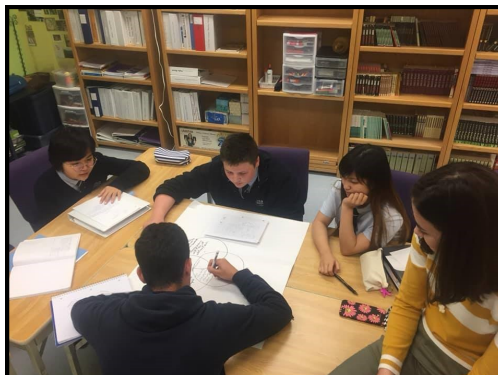

Students in Spanish classes were selected to have their Day of the Dead Altar showcased at the Sol De Medianoche's Dia De Los Muertes.

At Lumen our Alaska Native students wanted to attend and participate in the AFN 2018 Conference. It looks like they had a great time!

Students in Mrs. Carlson's World Literature class learn civil discourse while comparing and contrasting Nationalism, Patriotism and Fascism. This class is but one example of how Lumen students think globally and act locally, informed through their Christian faith.
